COVID-19 SHOWROOM AND JOB SITE MEETING PROTOCOLS

April 3, 2020

At Schuon Kitchens and Baths, we will follow the client's lead regarding safety protocols while we meet with them regarding their project. At a minimum, Schuon Kitchens and Baths will follow the following safety practices:

Showroom:

A video showroom tour is on our web site. The video allows for viewing of our displays; get product information; view some of our door styles, woods and colors; view some of our interior accessories; and learn about our product lines.

We offer free thirty-minute Zoom meetings to allow potential clients to meet our designers and get preliminary questions answered.

Our showroom will be open by appointment to ensure that it can be cleaned before the expected arrival of a client. All house door knobs, light switches, bathroom fixtures, display countertops and conference room table are to be cleaned with Lysol. Once the client leaves, the above items and areas are cleaned again.

We clean all samples and sample boards after a client has left the showroom and clean all loan-out samples when they are returned.

Our designers will practice social distancing as much as possible.

We use Zoom meetings to make design presentations and to present design medication and/or correction drawings.

For those clients that may have under-lying medical conditions, we will use Zoom and FaceTime for a final-review and selection verification meetings.

We will not meet with you at our showroom if we are feeling ill or have any symptoms associated with COVID-19.

Job Site Meetings:

We will clean our hands with hand sanitizer before we enter your home.

Our designers will wear masks while we are inside your house.

We will not come to your house if we are feeling ill or have any symptoms associated with COVID-19.
